BATTLE OF THE MARNE SEEMS TO HAVE BEEN WON BY THE ALLIES

General Joffre Reports That Allies' Victory is Nearing Completion

Reported Officially to Paris that the Enemy is Everywhere Retiring Before Irresistible Advance And Abandoning Many Strategic Positions, Leaving Behind Stores and Munitions

PURSUIT OF THE ENEMY IS BEING VIGOROUSLY PUSHED

Confidence In the Allies' Success is Such That Many Who Fled the City Have Returned and the Government May Soon Return From Bordeaux—General Joffre's Strategy is Commended By Military Experts of Other Nations and Acknowledged By British Commander.

Paris, Sept. 14.—In a despatch from Petrograd the correspondent of the Havas agency says an official communication declares that the Russian successes in Galicia are continuing.

FRENCH REPORT OF GREAT VICTORY

Washington, Sept. 14.—Official dispatches today to the French embassy from Bordeaux elaborate upon previous reports of the victorious advance of the allies.

"General Joffre tells the government victory is becoming more and more complete and brilliant," says the report. "The enemy is in full retreat and is abandoning prisoners, wounded, guns and ammunition. After an heroic effort during the formidable battle that lasted from the fifth to the twelfth, the army is pursuing the enemy in a way unparalleled in its extension and its intensity. On our left we have crossed the river Aisne below Soissons. Valenciennes and Amiens have been evacuated. At the center the army is north of the river Marne in the Argonne. The enemy left Reims but still hold Lailmont. In the east we have occupied St. Die, Raon, Letape, Baccarat, Lunelville and Remezunville. In Galicia the battle, begun 17 days ago, ended with a great Russian victory. Austrians are withdrawing on the whole front."

REPORTED RETIRING EVERYWHERE

Paris, Sept. 14.—3:10 P. M.—It was officially announced this afternoon that the Germans are still retreating everywhere. They are abandoning all the positions which they erected to cover a possible retreat.

Paris, Sept. 14.—The retreat of the armies of General von Kluck and von Buelow continued at last accounts with considerable rapidity. The only official comment last night was that the allies were keeping in contact with the enemy and had crossed the river Aisne.

The whereabouts of the Germans was not revealed but it is evident that they do not intend to make a stand on the line from Rheims to Soissons and it is hardly likely, it is thought here, that they will halt their retreat before reaching Belgium. They have already made two-thirds of the distance from Provins in the department of Seine et Marne to the frontier. Heavy rains of Saturday and Sunday are not likely to facilitate the movement of the famous 420 millimetre mortars that were to reduce Paris and which require forty horses to draw them.

The armies of Generals von Hausen and the Prince of Wuertemberg, which constituted the center, seem to be headed toward Reims and Metz, though part of this force is reported as still resisting at the south end of the forest of Argonne.

It was reported that the armies of the crown prince, the Prince of Bavaria and General von Heeringen had been forced across the frontier and that the entire territory of French Lorraine had been liberated.

This disposition of the German armies, if confirmed, makes another concentration in France, as suggested by certain critics, impossible. It leaves Generals von Kluck and von Buelow hotly pursued by the allies and menaced by an enveloping movement on the left and without hope of reinforcements except perhaps from the sixty thousand troops which occupy Belgium.

The latest news from Antwerp however, shows that these are likely to be needed there to stand off the offensive movement taken by King Albert's army.

Taken altogether the situation here is viewed with equanimity and the government is busy with ways and means for reviving trade and commerce.

When the German army began its eastward movement to cut the French center, according to General French, it was ignoring the British as a factor in the fight. The allies began a general advance on Sept. 7 against the German rear guard of their right wing which had been left along the river Ourcq. The British army reinforced. The Germans began a retreat on their right on the 7th. It was the first time that they had turned back since the battle of Mons.

The Germans of the right army seemed demoralized. They were without food and surrendered readily according to the British report. The continued advance, General French says, has delighted the troops who with the reinforcements received are filled with zeal and anxious to press on.

AMERICAN EXPERTS CONFIRM RETREAT.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Official reports today from American military observers in France confirmed other reports of the advance of the allied army and the general retreat of the Germans, "all along the line." The feeling of confidence in the success of the allies is reported so widespread that within a radius of fifty kilometers of Paris, refugees who deserted the village and towns in fear of attack, are now returning to their homes. It is believed to be not unlikely that the French government may move back to Paris from Bordeaux within a short time if the successes of the allied army continue.

First Photograph of Liege Fort After Bombardment By 16-Inch Gun.

This photograph shows why the forts of Liege after a gallant resistance of nine days could no longer hold out before the German onslaught. When the Kaiser got his field 16-inch guns into play, no masonry or steel could withstand them. The photograph shows that solid masonry more than 25 feet in width and as many feet deep had been torn to pieces by the heavy guns. The turret at one side contained a rapid fire gun of the Belgian fort. It was made of steel more than a foot thick. That was incased in masonry and sunk in the ground. But the 16-inch shells tore the defense to bits, and one shot sent just beneath the steel encasement, had lifted it clear of its position, had jammed it from the hole shown in the background and it had fallen forward. The men within it were, of course, killed.

Fighting in South Africa of Germans and British Has Deeper Meaning Than Local Struggle

Washington, Sept. 14.—Reports of fighting between the British and German forces in Central Africa is regarded in diplomatic quarters here as having a significance far beyond that of a local struggle in that savage and remote quarter. It is looked upon as a final test of the two rival policies—the German plan of establishing her most extensive colony in East Africa, and the British policy of linking together her vast territory in southern Africa, extending from Cape Colony, through Rhodesia to Lake Tanganyika, and her equally large possessions in northern Africa, extending from Egypt, through the Sudan, down to British east Africa.

These British possessions in the north and the south, stretch almost continuously for five thousand miles giving the hope of realizing Cecil Rhodes' dream of a continuous line from Cairo to the Cape route, entirely under British authority. This stretch is now interrupted at only one point where for two hundred miles German East Africa projects an arm straight across the chain of British possessions extending from the north to the south. The British have succeeded in getting around this gap, first, by crossing the British territory under a treaty which finally abrogated through German's protest, and second, by adopting Lake Tanganyika as a water route, connecting the other portions of the route by rail and river.

One of the reports from Blankenau in British Central Africa, tells of the taking of the German station at Lenzburg, at the head of Lake Nyasa in German East Africa. This is the section immediately at issue, and which forms the link between the British possessions of north and south Africa. It lies just south of the British possessions in Uganda, and should its control pass to the British it would complete their continuous chain from the northernmost point of Africa to the southernmost point of Cape Colony.

NEUTRAL SHIPS STILL SUBJECT OF DISCUSSION

Washington, Sept. 14.—Sir Cecil Spring Rice, the British ambassador, and Robert Lansing, counselor of the state department, are continuing their discussion of neutrality, especially with reference to the character of British vessels which may enter and clear American ports during the war.

Rules to govern the conduct of maritime relations between the two countries have not yet been definitely settled though no difficulty is anticipated.

AUSTRIAN ARMY IN SORE STRAITS BUT NOT DESTROYED

As Has Been Reported—The Center Has No Doubt Crumpled Up While the Left Wing Has Been Hurling Back Into River Marshes—Austria Fears Italy Which Has Continued to Maintain Neutrality Thus Far—Little Authentic News Filters Through From German Sources.

The right and center of the German army of invasion in France is gradually withdrawing and the left wing stoutly resisting the advance of the allies according to the best obtainable information today.

The German crown prince appears to be holding his own in the vicinity of Verdun.

The capture by the Germans of a fortified position southwest of Verdun and a battle between Paris and the river Marne described in a report from the German headquarters have been noted earlier in press dispatches.

The British statement reviews the operations of the British in France from Sept. 4 to 10 but reveals nothing new.

An official communication issued at Paris at 3 o'clock this afternoon, (Paris time) declares that the Germans "are now retreating everywhere."

They are, it is added, abandoning all the positions which they established to cover a possible retreat.

Reports concerning the fighting in Russian Poland and Galicia are conflicting. It appears that the Austrians have met serious reverses, but continued struggles established that they have not been completely overwhelmed by the Russians.

Still less is definitely known of the operations in east Prussia. According to advices from Petrograd a Russian army is before the capital, Koenigsberg. But Russian official advices two days ago stated that their forces were bombarding Koenigsberg.

According to German reports the initial success of General Hindenburg in East Prussia which has been admitted in Petrograd, was followed by further German triumphs to the south of Koenigsberg.

The Belgian army operating from Antwerp is represented as harassing the Germans in the district to prevent the two German army corps there moving south to the aid of the German main line. Belgian official reports admit that their forces were obliged to retire after a counter attack by the Germans.

The Serbians claim continued successes against the Austrians, the greater part of whose armies are engaged with the Russians to the north.

London, Sept. 14.—"Incontestable" is the adjective used by General Joffre, commander-in-chief of the French forces, in describing the victory claimed by the allies along the western battle front. The latest official communication from Paris indicates that the advance is continuing all along the line with the allies left wing now across the river Aisne.

But little news and that of the vaguest sort filters through from Germany regarding the operations in the west though it is evident from the tone of Berlin official statements that the people are being warned not to be too optimistic as certain reverses may be expected. The latest actual battle news in Berlin describes a sortie from Paris on September 6, which it is stated has been repulsed.

Dispatches from many sources, including Vienna, indicate that the Austrian army in Galicia is in sore straits, but the story of its complete destruction is evidently exaggerated as the latest Russian reports indicate that General Ruzsky's forces are still meeting with organized resistance. It is evident, however, from the disposition of the combatants, that the Austrian center was crumpled up while the left wing was hurled back into the marshes of the river San. This left wing, composed of the flower of the Austrian troops, may be caught in a trap, making unconditional surrender the only alternative to destruction. The official statement given out in Petrograd says that General Rennenkampf, in east Prussia, is stubbornly retreating before a superior force rather than risk the turning of his left flank by the Germans.

The Belgian Mobile force has returned to its Antwerp base with the official explanation that it has served its purpose in preventing German reinforcements from joining the army in France. This force operated for four days in the Brussels-Louvain-Malines triangle, forcing the Germans to abandon much of that portion of Belgium. In connection with this movement, it is reported that the Belgians are cutting German communications. Other sources declare that the Belgians were compelled to return because the Germans were strongly reinforced from Liege. The retirement is said also to have been expected by a threat to burn Brussels.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The British foreign office today cabled to the British embassy here an emphatic denial of the report of a revolution in India. The despatch says:

"The story of a revolution in India which has been given out by German legations in certain capitals is a sheer invention. The enthusiasm in India with regard to the war is most striking. All native political organizations of all parties as well as the general population are offering striking proofs of their loyalty to the British empire, offers of military and financial support have been made and are being gratefully accepted by His Majesty's government."

Important details of the operations of the British army in France are contained in a report which issued this afternoon.

When the German army began its eastward movement to cut the French center, according to General French, it was ignoring the British as a factor in the fight. The allies began a general advance on Sept. 7 against the German rear guard of their right wing which had been left along the river Ourcq. The British army reinforced. The Germans began a retreat on their right on the 7th. It was the first time that they had turned back since the battle of Mons.

Ambassador to Germany Denies That U. S. Will Join the Allies; Berlin's Report on the Battle

Berlin, Sept. 14.—(By wireless to the Associated Press by way of Sayville, Long Island.)—The headquarters of the German army in Berlin today gave out the following official report:

"The German crown prince has captured the enemy's fortified position southwest of Verdun, and is now bombarding with heavy artillery the outer forts lying to the south. A battle is in progress between Paris and the river Marne over a front of 125 kilometers stretching from Nanteuil in the west where the English forces are, to Vitry. The German Prince's army is separated from the main battle by the forest of Argonne."

The armies of the Crown Prince of Bavaria and General von Heeringen are in formal battle near the upper Moselle.

"James W. Gerard, the American ambassador to Germany, has given out an interview to the press denying persistent reports that the United States was preparing to join the allies; that Mr. Whitlock (the American minister at Brussels) had attached the mayor of Brussels to his staff, that the American flag had been raised at Ochen; that the Tuckerton incident was unfriendly discrimination against Germany and that he is advising Americans to hurry away because the United States was going to war."

General Hindenburg has defeated the Russians, has crossed the Russian frontier, and up to the present time has taken 10,000 prisoners and captured 30 guns and many prisoners guns and aeroplanes."

DETAILS

OF THE FIGHTING LAST WEEK ON THE ALLIES' PART ARE GIVEN

In an Official Account Issued by the Press Bureau at London.

(Associated Press Telegram)

London, Sept. 14.—The official press bureau this afternoon issued the following statement:

"All day yesterday the enemy stubbornly disputed the passage of the Aisne by our troops but in spite of the difficulty of forcing the river in the face of a strong opposition nearly all the crossings were secured by sunset."

"On our right and left the French troops were confronted with a similar task in which like ourselves they were successful. Many more prisoners were taken."

"On Monday, Sept. 7, there was a general advance on the part of the allies. In this quarter of the field our forces which had now been reinforced pushed on in a northeasterly direction in co-operation with the advance of the French fourth army to the north and on the French sixth army to the eastward against the German rear along the river Ourcq."

"Possibly weakened by the detachment of troops to the eastern theater of operations and realizing that the action of the French Sixth army against the line of Ourcq and the advance of the British placed their own flanking movement in considerable danger of being taken in the rear and in on its right flank the Germans on this day commenced to retire towards the northeast."

"On Tuesday, Sept. 8, the German movement northeastward was continued. Their rear guards on the south of the river were being pressed back to that river by our troops and by the French on our right, the latter capturing three villages after a hand to hand fight and the infliction of severe losses on the enemy."

"The fighting along the Ourcq continued on this day and was of the most sanguinary character, for the Germans had massed a great force of artillery along this line. Very few of their infantry were seen by the French."

"The French Fifth army also made a fierce attack on the Germans in Montmirail, retaining that place."

"On Wednesday, Sept. 9, the battle between the French sixth army and what was now the German flank guard along the Ourcq continued."

"The British corps overcame some resistance on the river Petit Morin, crossed the Marne in pursuit of the Germans who now were hastily retreating northwards. One of the corps was delayed by an obstinate defense made by a strong rear guard with machine guns at Laferte Sous Jouarre, where the bridge had been destroyed."

"On Thursday, Sept. 10, the French sixth army continued its pressure on the west while the fifth army by forced marches reached the line of Chateau Thierry and Dormans on the Marne. Our troops also continued the pursuit on the north of the latter river and after a considerable amount of fighting captured some 1,500 prisoners, four guns, six machine guns and fifty transport wagons."

"Many of the enemy were killed or wounded and the numerous thick woods which dot the country north of the Marne are filled with German stragglers. Most of them appear to have been without food for at least two days."

"The arrival of reinforcements and the continued advance have delighted our troops who are full of zeal and anxious to press on."

"One of the features of the campaign on our side has been the success obtained by the royal flying corps. In regard to the collection of information it is impossible either to award too much praise to our aviators for the way they have carried out their duties or to overestimate the value of the intelligence collected, more especially during the recent advance."

BELGIANS

A Paris newspaper that the German governor of the occupied Belgian territory entered Antwerp under an agreement of safe conduct in a fruitless attempt to come to an agreement with the Belgian government.

Italy is still preserving strict neutrality but has joined the triple entente ambassadors in a protest against the revocation of the capitulations by Turkey.

Austria evidently fears hostile action on the part of Italy, according to newspaper reports from Rome, for feverish efforts are being made to fortify Trieste against attack and the coast in that vicinity is being mined.

The first stage of the battle of the Marne which from the numbers of fighting men engaged, the extent of the line of battle and the terrific slaughter is perhaps correctly described as "the battle of the ages" appears to have been won by the French and British armies, but the main German army is still intact and the supreme clash is still to come.

The present week may see even more desperate do-do George-bleerf which have yet taken place. Metz, the capital of Lorraine, and the chain of forts thence to Diedenhofen on the Moselle, 17 miles north of Metz, form a strong pivot from the German left, while the rivers and the dense forests on the frontier, together with the strategic roads, give the German army of invasion, now in retreat, a splendid opportunity for defensive action should the French pursuit extend this far.

Military observers foresee all kinds of perplexing possibilities. In the event of the German retreating, the positions they held before they started the rush of 1,500,000 men to Paris, particularly should they succeed in taking any large proportion of their corps.

"Star Spangled Banner", 100 Years Old Today, is Honored by All Schools

Appropriate services this morning marked the centennial anniversary of the writing of the national anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner," in the schools of Newark and Licking county, Superintendent Wilson Hawkins and County Superintendent Elmer W. Jordan having issued an order that a proper program should be observed.

At the high school building during chapel the pupils all stood, and to an orchestra accompaniment of twenty pieces, sang the famous song, after which Principal O. J. Barnes gave a history of the author, Francis Scott Key, and the conditions under which he was inspired to write the song, and other ideas that had a tendency to give the pupils a thrill of national patriotism.

The same observance occurred at all the grade schools of the city and in all the township and village schools.

"The Star Spangled Banner" is just 100 years old today and all over the state the voices of a million young Americans were raised in singing the great national anthem in commemoration of its birth, for it was written on Sept. 14, 1814.

Teachers all over the state today told their scholars how Francis Scott Key went out on the English ships about to attack Fort Henry to obtain the release of a friend held a prisoner; how he was held prisoner himself all night and was forced to witness from hostile ship the bombardment of the fort over which floated the flag he loved so well; how, straining his eyes on the morning of Sept. 14, 1814, he saw the flag had not fallen, and, inspired, wrote the song:

Oh, say can you see by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hail'd at the twilight's gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watch'd were so gallantly streaming?
And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there,
Oh, say, does the Star Spangled Banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave?

OFFICIAL

REPORT FROM LONDON, BASED ON WORD FROM SIR JOHN FRENCH.

Says That the Situation is Little Changed From That of September 3.

(Associated Press Telegram)

London, Sept. 14.—The official press bureau issued the following statement this afternoon:

"The following report is compiled from information sent from the headquarters of Field Marshal Sir John French (commander-in-chief of the British expeditionary forces on the continent) under date of Sept. 11: 'A summary of the operations of the British army in France was issued by the war office on the 6th instant, and an account, stated to be complete, of further operations was issued from the bureau on Saturday night, the 12th instant.'

"Today it is possible to give more complete reports of the movement of the British force and of the French armies in immediate touch with it. This account is compiled from data received from the front and carries the operations from the 4th to the 10th of September, both days inclusive."

"It will be remembered that the general position of our troops on Sunday, Sept. 6, was stated to be south of the river Marne, with the French forces in line on our right and left."

"Practically there had been no change in the situation since Thursday, Sept. 3, which marked the end of our army's long retirement from the Belgian frontier through northern France."

The official statement follows:

"First, on our left wing the enemy had repaired to the north of Aisne, between Compiègne and Soissons, a line of defense which it was forced to abandon. Some detachments which it had held at Amiens now have retired upon Peronne and St. Quentin."

"Second, on the center also the Germans had taken up a defensive position behind Rheims, but were unable to hold it. In the Argonne region they turned back toward the north beyond the forest of Belhouse and beyond Triaucourt."

"On the right wing the retreating movement of the Germans is general from Nancy to the Vosges. Yesterday evening French territory in this vicinity had been completely evacuated."

"Prepared to ignore the British as being driven out of the fight they were initiating an effort to attack the left flank of the main French army which stretched in a long curved line from our right towards the east and south to carry out against it alone an envelopment which so far had failed against the combined forces of the allies."

"On Saturday, the 5th, this movement on the part of the Germans was continued and large advance parties crossed the Marne southward at Trilport, Sammeron, La Ferte, Sous Jouarre and Chateau Thierry. There was considerable fighting with the French fifth army on the French left which fell back from its position south of the Marne toward the Seine."

"On Sunday, large hostile forces crossed the Marne and pushed on through Coulommiers and past the British right further to the east. They were attacked at night by the French fifth army which captured three villages at the point of bayonets."

"On Friday, Sept. 4, it became apparent that there was an alteration in the advance of almost the whole of the first German army. That army since the battle near Mons on the 22nd of August, had been playing its part in a colossal strategic endeavor to create a Sedan for the allies by outflanking and enveloping the left of their whole line so as to encircle and drive both the British and French to the south."

"There was now a change in its objective and it was observed that the German forces opposite the British were beginning to move in a southeasterly direction instead of continuing southwest on to the capital, leaving a strong rear guard along the line of the river Ourcq (which flows south of and joins the Marne at Lizy-sur-Ourcq) to keep off the French sixth army which by then had been formed and was to the northwest of Paris."

"They were evidently executing what amounted to a flank march diagonally across our front."

GERMAN ROUT IS BECOMING BIG DISASTER

(Associated Press Telegram)

London, Sept. 14.—The Times at Bordeaux suggests that the German rout is deepening into complete disaster, that the invaders are turning homeward by way of St. Quentin and Mezieres on the Luxembourg frontier, that the German forces in the Argonne and south of Verdun are likely to be cut off from the remainder in which event they can escape only at a heavy price.

"The German rout is so complete that it is more than doubtful whether the enemy will be able to find a breathing place on the only likely position which runs through Peronne and St. Quentin. The enemy is making for a line of retreat through Charleville and Mezieres and is doing the homeward journey in record time."

BELGIANS IGNORE GERMAN PROPOSALS

(Associated Press Telegram)

London, Sept. 14.—A dispatch from Paris to Reuters Telegram Company says:

"A telegram from Petrograd to the Matin states that persistent rumors are current there that the large part of the Austrian armies capitulated yesterday."

"The Figaro calls attention to the fact that Italy, displaying for the first time detachment from the triple alliance, handed to the Porte a protest against the proposed abolition of the capitulations, drawn up in terms identical to that of the triple entente powers."

"The Figaro announces that General von Goltz, governor of the occupied Belgian districts, visited Antwerp, provided with a safe conduct, and made proposals to the Belgian government with a view to reaching an agreement. The Belgian government refused to consider these proposals."

JAP VICE ADMIRAL SENTENCED TO A FOUR-YEAR TERM

(Associated Press Telegram)

Tokio, Sept. 14.—Vice Admiral Koichi Fujii who was accused of bribery in connection with the naval corruption case of last year, has been sentenced to imprisonment for a term of four years and six months. Fujii was at one time Japanese naval attaché at Berlin. He was ordered before court martial in February of this year.

It was alleged that he received illicit commissions for influencing the allotment of admiralty contracts in favor of a German firm.

REPORTED SUCCESS OF THE ALLIES HAS EFFECT ON MARKET

(Associated Press Telegram)

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Reported important victories of the allies accepted by the grain trade as tending to shorten the war, caused an extreme decline of 1-1/2 cents in the price of wheat on the board of trade here at the opening today.

The extreme drop was in wheat for delivery next May. This option, which at the climax of the war excitement sold up to $1.32 on Saturday at 1:20, this morning the price declined to $1.15 1-2.

BROKEN LEG

SUSTAINED BY WOMAN, AND MAN ALSO INJURED IN COLLISION SUNDAY

Between an Automobile and Buggy, but Neither Would Divulge Names.

A collision of an automobile and buggy near Pataskala Sunday about noon, resulted in the injury of a man and woman occupying the rear seat of the machine, the driver escaping with but a slight scratch on the face.

The driver of the car was a chauffeur employed at the Spillman garage, L. R. Eby, said to be one of the best and most careful drivers in the city.

According to Mr. Eby's story he was driving at a moderate speed along the pike near Pataskala and just when he reached the road intersection leading into the village a horse and buggy dashed out into the road. The occupants of the buggy were a man and a girl, and Driver Eby saw that it was a case of strike the rig and probably kill its occupants or take a chance of ditching his machine with but little risk, believing that he could control it so that it would retain its upright position. He chose the latter and the car ran at a steep angle for a short distance and then turned over throwing the three occupants out.

A Columbus physician drove by in a touring car and assisted the injured people affording temporary relief. Later they were brought to this city and were attended by Dr. P. H. Cosner who found that the man was suffering with two broken ribs and the woman had a fracture of the right leg. Later they were taken to their homes. Neither would divulge their names and the chauffeur states that he did not know them, but was simply engaged to take them to Columbus.

The car was brought to the Spillman garage for repairs. The two wheels which were down in the ditch along the roadside were broken and the windshield was demolished.

Lost in Stefansson's Exploring Party Left Behind them Brief Biographies; One Was an Ohioan

(Associated Press Telegram)

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 14.—Members of the ill-fated Stefansson Canadian Arctic expedition, three of whom met death and eight of whom are missing, left behind them brief biographies before they sailed on the steamer Karluck from Nome, Alaska, in 1913. The biographies of the three who perished, whose names were reported in a message yesterday from the revenue cutter Bear which is bringing home eight survivors, follows:

"George Stewart Malloch, geologist, one of those reported lost was born at Hamilton, Ont., July 22, 1879. He entered Queens University at Kingston, Ont., in 1898 and was graduated in 1902. He then took a four-year course in the school of mining at the same university."

"Bjarne Mamen, topographer, the youngest in the Stefansson expedition was born at Fredrikshald, Norway, April 5, 1891. He came to British Columbia in 1912 to take the study of forestry and when the Stefansson expedition was organized Mamen applied to Stefansson for a position of topographer without pay. Stefansson accepted the terms promptly. Mamen's father is C. H. Mamen of Middlehurst Street, Christina, Norway."

"Seaman John Brady joined the Karluck's crew at Victoria, B. C., June, 1913."

SELF-RELIANT HOME DOCTORS

is what women are called who all over this broad land make their annual collections of roots and herbs, and rely upon recipes which our pioneer mothers found dependable for different family ailments. In one of these recipes, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had its origin and so successful has it proved that there is hardly a city, town or hamlet in America where some woman who has been restored to health by its use does not reside.

WAS HELPED IN FOUR SHORT DAYS

Woman Living on Route 2, Granville, Gives Proof of Nerv-Worth's Power.

"I am the mother of 10 children. Have suffered with nervousness for 15 years. I have doctored with a number of doctors and received no benefit from their medicines. Two weeks ago I began taking Nerv-Worth. After only four days I was so much improved I could hardly realize that any medicine could do what Nerv-Worth did for me. I am now happy to say I am almost well."

MRS. JULIA A. DUNAWAY.

I am cheerful, digest my food, do my housework, and superintend my farm and do it easily. Nerv-Worth is the only medicine that has done me any good in building up my nervous system.

"Before using Nerv-Worth I had awful headaches and was a very bad sleeper. My stomach troubled me. I was weak and unable to do my housework with any degree of satisfaction. Was also constipated and extremely nervous—in fact, almost a complete wreck."

This is the convincing statement made by Mrs. Julia A. Dunaway of R. F. D. No. 2, Granville. No nerve tonic ever administered could do in four days what Nerv-Worth did in this case. Observe that Mrs. Dunaway's nervous disorders had lasted 15 years. Yet Nerv-Worth overcame them in four days. Who ever has like troubles can try Nerv-Worth without risk. The purchasers take none as their money is returned if the medicine fails to help. Sold only at the T. J. Evans Drug Store, hotel Warden building. The Nerv-Worth specialist there will give you a free sample dose.

FORMAL OPENING SPECIALTY SHOP WAS SUCCESSFUL

A formal opening of the Newark Ostrich Feather and Specialty Shop, in Room 23, of the Hibbert and Schaus building was held on Saturday.

The rooms have been redecorated and presented a pretty appearance at the opening in their soft tan paper and draperies. Mrs. R. J. Oden is in charge and she oversees the work on clean, curl, dye and remake ostrich feathers. A concert department has been added with an expert coster in charge and still another feature is added in the Franco-American toilet articles which are shown by an experienced demonstrator.

A number of women gathered in the shop during the reception hours and as favors red roses were distributed to the visitors.

THAT RUSSIANS ARE IN BELGIUM NOW CONFIRMED

London, Sept. 14.—In a dispatch from Ghent, the correspondent of the Daily News says that after two days of investigation he has confirmed the statement that Russian troops are in Belgium.

Afternoon papers of Ghent, the correspondent says, published last Saturday a statement to the effect that "The German army has been cut at Comteburg, between Brussels and Louvain by a Belgian army reinforced by Russian troops."

His investigations confirmed this, but where these Russians are and what their numbers may be it would be indubitable to tell, he says.

Continuing, the correspondent mentions the possibility that the Russian is not the only army reinforcing the Belgians.

AUSTRIA REMOVES HER TROOPS FROM ITALIAN FRONTIER

Rome, Sept. 13. Via Paris, Sept. 14.—The Giornale d'Italia says that Austria has removed her first line of troops from the Italian frontier especially from Grenzschützen. The companies of their Alpine sharpshooters are needed against the Russians but they have prepared a defensive force consisting of good arms and reservists of the Landwehr, besides cutting all the roads with ditches eight feet wide and ten feet deep.

The possible landing of a hostile force of Greeks, which is unfounded, has been provided for by entrenching the mountains overlooking the town.

RESERVISTS ARE GOING OUT IN CIVILIAN DRESS

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

London, Sept. 14.—A dispatch to the Central News from Petrograd, dated Sunday, says it is reported from Bucharest that a panic occurred in Vienna on receipt of the news of the capture of Samlin by the Servians and that thousands of unemployed are parading the streets of the capital. The military stores and even the stock of uniforms proved to be insufficient, and as a result the third levy of reservists are going to the frontier in civilian attire.

Russians to the number of 2,500 liberated from captivity in Germany have arrived in Petrograd via Finland. It is stated that the reason for this liberation is that the German exchequer is too depleted to admit of their being kept.

ALL PARTIES IN STATE ELECTION OF MAINE TODAY

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Portland, Maine, Sept. 14.—Fair weather today favored the voters in the first state election of the year. The Progressives cast their ballot for a complete party ticket for the first time in this state and the size of their vote, observers of all parties expected, would have an important bearing on the result. National politics have been fought to the front by more speakers of national prominence than have taken part in an "off year" election here for a decade.

Governor William T. Haynes, Republican, was opposed for re-election by Mayor Oakley C. Curtis of Portland, Democrat; Halbert P. Gardner of Patten, Progressive; Frederick A. Sheppard of Waterville, Prohibitionist, and Percy P. Morse, of Portland Socialist.

All four of Maine's congressional seats were contested for by Republicans, Democrats, Progressives and Socialists.

ENTHUSIASM IN RUSSIA, SHOWN AT GRAND OPERA

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

London, Sept. 14.—10:30 A. M.—A Petrograd dispatch to the Central News described a scene of tremendous enthusiasm on the first night of Imperial grand opera season when a bulletin describing the destruction of the Austrian army between the rivers Bug and Dniester was read in the middle of the performance.

The Russian hymn was sung over and over again and the national anthems of the allies also were sung, while the ambassadors and minister of those countries bowed from their boxes.

Tumultuous demonstrations took place in the street, the crowds almost fighting to get the newspapers. The Russian minister of commerce and industry has despatched a commission of engineers to the town of Strig, Gdelsk which has been recently occupied by the Russians, with a view of studying the resources of petroleum in Austria to meet the shortage of naphtha in Russia.

CORONER THINKS ANDERSON FELL FROM THE TRAIN

Coroner A. E. Walters stated Sunday it is his opinion that Charles Findley Anderson, 50, the Washington D. C. man, whose dead body was found along the Pennsylvania tracks at Black River fell from the rear platform of the train. No foul play theory is held, as Anderson's money and other possessions were intact in his pockets.

Anderson had been in the city his father's estate, and his portion was was carious in his hington, when he met his pockets were a gold ash, an express receipt and other valuable papers. He was still in the opinion of officials application in his his identity.

Anderson fell from the train passing through Black River Friday night. His body was taken to an undertaking for burial and later shipped to Columbus.

CLOVER SHEAVES HID INFANTRYMEN WHO WERE MADE PRISONERS.
(Associated Press Telegram)
Paris, Sept. 14.—A number of trains arrived at the northern and eastern stations early today bringing cannon, projectiles, ammunition wagons, aeroplanes and a fourth, captured from the enemy.
Among the wounded arriving at the eastern station was a sergeant of infantry who was in the fighting at Montmirail. He saw a number of German soldiers made prisoners in a field of yellow clover. The forage had been cut and bound in sheaves and when one of the sheaves was seen to move a shot fired into it brought out a German infantryman. A second shot fired into another a third brought out another German and it was found that all others in the field concealed soldiers. All were captured.

CAREFUL TALK.

Of course, we'll talk about the war—that can't be helped, by Jingo; for that is what we're living for, to talk of Vital Things. We'll talk until our throats are hoarse, we'll jabber day by day, but let us, in our brave discourse, be careful what we say. Why sit upon the grocer's bench, or stand along the curbs, and roast the Germans or the French, the Austrians or the Serbs? The justice of each nation's cause can't be settled by you, so you'd be wise to shelve your jaws, and cease your howl-do. The feeling now is too intense; why make it doubly deep? 'Twere better far to paint your fence, or else adorn your sheep. This combat gives my soul a wrench, and starts the scalding brine; for I have friends among the French, and German friends are mine; and there are Brits—ishers I love and Russians I admire, and, oh, I hate to see them shove each other in the fire! How I look forward to the day—God grant it soon may come—when all of them will cease to slay and sound the martial drum. And meanwhile I can do no good by springing foolish talk, so I shall saw my pile of wood and get my corn in shock.

Getting Ready to "Do Business."

It having been established by James R. Garfield's accusation, Harvey C. Garber's defense and Frank B. Willis' acquiescence in the facts regarding corporation contributions that behind the Republican ticket in Ohio is a secret campaign for the control of the Ohio Public Utilities Commission, the eyes of the voters of Ohio are directed to another field of operation. With the control of the utilities commission in their hands the conspirators could "do business" with favor seeking interests who want to issue stocks and bonds and to secure profitable increase in rates and service. That's what Garfield meant when he demanded an open door in dealing with the public service corporations. Not satisfied with the proposed seizure of this citadel of favor, the conspirators are also seeking to capture the Ohio Tax Commission. Through their batteries of partisan newspapers they have launched an attack upon this commission on the ground that it is partisan. This means that if successful they will dismiss the experts who have in the past four years increased the taxable valuation of public service corporations from a few hundred millions to over a billion dollars. They will then be in a position to "do business" with such of these concerns as wish to have their valuations reduced. This is no mere chimera of a political campaign. It was only under the Harmon regime that a law was enacted to abolish the famous state Board of Railroad Appraisers, who finally fixed the values of that class of property and its director was none other than the noted Walter D. Guilbert, Auditor of State. And then there was the telegraph and telephone appraisal body in which Guilbert, McKinnon and other State Treasury connections were members. Is it any wonder that the railway supply and equipment dealers and

Spirit of the Press

Fair Play for the Railroads.
The president has not overstated the important role of railroad prosperity to the country. It is not enough that the companies should be able to pay their expenses. They must keep up their dividends, and they must have sufficient surplus revenue to secure the confidence of investors and to make it practicable to raise the additional capital they need every year of they are to meet and anticipate the requirements of the business world. —Philadelphia Record.

Maxim's Suggestion.
Being an American born, Sir Hiram Maxim suggests to rich Brits that they raise a fund of $100,000,000 to be applied to the support of the families of men in the field. He also proposes pay at the rate of $1.25 a day for all soldiers. If Sir Hiram can introduce a few of these American ideas into the military establishments of Europe, reinforced later on with a big pension system he will make war so terrible that it will never be heard of any more. —New York World.

Unquestioned Leader.
It does not seem possible that the Democratic party can escape making Mr. Wilson its candidate in 1916. He is its unquestioned leader. But he is even more than that; he is its brains. If not its conscience, he has shown wonderful—yes, masterly—political sagacity. There is no man in the party today big enough to make even a respectable fight against the president for the nomination. —Buffalo Commercial.

Europe's "Line-up."
Strange as the present line-up in Europe may appear compared with previous alliances and wars it is not improbable that if there is another war the line-up then will be just as odd contrasted with that of today. So much for the durability of national antipathies when policy intrudes. —Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Case In Point.
When denouncing Austria-Hungary for "humiliating" Serbia by demanding representation on the board of inquiry to investigate the alleged complicity of Serbian subjects in the murder of the Austrian archduke and his wife, American war debaters should bear in mind the fact that the United States demanded, and Spain granted, the privilege of appointing all of the members of the board which investigated the destruction of the battleship Maine in Havana harbor. —St. Louis Post Dispatch.

Germany's Strength.
It has already become evident that Germany is a mighty antagonist even when opposed by the whole of Europe. Many of her victories have been won by sheer strength of physical force and will. She has hurled back the allied armies again and again. She has withstood, without a murmur, losses which would have paralyzed a weaker nation. In the face of a campaign that has taken little heed of losses her people have stood united behind the Kaiser, ready to stand or fall with him. —Washington Post.

In the matter of stock investiture, the attorney in a murder trial produced a weeping woman dressed in black.

By the Way

Eph Wiley's theory of marriage is that a man should not be permitted to engage in it until he is old enough to realize that there is more than one woman in the world.

A "blackface" comedian is one who proceeds upon the theory that a high standing collar is one of the accessories of humor.

When a woman turns counterfeit, it is in an effort to reproduce the appearance of youth.

Eph Wiley says he is one of those who never grows impatient when the carrier pigeon is delayed in its flight.

The responsibility is pretty equally divided. A man brings in the living and his wife gathers the news.

When a woman denounces society the probability is that all she knows about society is hearsay.

There is, at least, this to say for the self-made man. He never tries to blame it on anybody else.

What has become of the old-fashioned musician who played by ear?

The Gas Question.
The question whether it is best to use a bare bodkin and end the slaying and strife of life or to endure than to trade for that we know not of.

The summer sun is waning and old boreas is coming fast; the question then is, shall we kill the Gas Company or make some settlement? I want it yes or no. We don't care anything about the Gas Company any more than we do for the folks that produce our coffee and sugar. But gas is a necessity not a luxury. Suppose in dead of winter the Court orders the Gas Company to go. In place of home comfort we will have to sniff the cold air. We want to know what is doing so we can make arrangements for winter comfort. It is not necessary to wait for the fall election; now is the accepted time. So sayeth the consumer.

CITIES MAY NOT TAX TOWNSHIPS, HOGAN'S OPINION

(Associated Press Telegram.)
Columbus, Sept. 14.—Attorney General T. S. Hogan ruled today that Cincinnati and all other Ohio cities whose territorial lines are co-extensive with township lines, cannot levy, for municipal purposes, the two mills township tax provided by the Smith law, only exception is that a sufficient levy must be made from the two mill township tax to cover the salaries and expenses of justices of the peace, who he holds, are constitutional township officers. This levy, however, will be so small as to be negligible.

Cincinnati, Columbus and Toledo saw a chance to secure greatly increased amounts for municipal purposes if they were able to add to their five mill city levies the additional two mill township levy.

The Hogan opinion, however, holds that where the boundaries of a city and township are co-extensive, the township practically ceases to exist from a political standpoint, except as to the election of justices of the peace. Had Hogan ruled in favor of permitting the additional two mill levy the cities would have been the gainer at the expense of the county governments and school districts, as it would have been necessary to pare their levies proportionately as the city levy was increased about five mills.

NOVEL METHOD OF ROBBERY IS A NEW WRINKLE

Local police officers have "cleaned up" two cases of robbery, both of which were successful for the time being, though the police department has been able to locate the thief in each case and recover the money stolen. A young man arrested Sunday after a sweating process at the hands of Police Chief Sheridan admitted that he had concealed himself in the Bader saloon Saturday night when the place was closed. After spending the night in the place he rifled the cash register of $40, and let himself out. When arrested in a downtown business place, he asked to go to the wash room and while there the young man dropped two bundles of money in the closet bowl. He later confessed to getting the money. Mr. Bader refused to prosecute the case. The young man drew a nominal fine which was suspended on condition that he return the money stolen. Another case of similar character was reported last Friday night and the guilty man was arrested, confessed and returned the money.

BURGLARS LOOT DENTAL OFFICE

Burglars gained an entrance to the office of Dr. A. V. Davis, Friday night and after ransacking the place of business made their escape with about $150 worth of valuables. The thieves took about $100 worth of finished work, together with $35 worth of gold and platinum, besides other articles used in his profession. The discovery of the burglary was made by Frank Lyons, barber, who operates a shop next door to Dr. Davis' office in the Wehrle building in West Main street. It is believed that the thieves gained entrance by picking the lock.

SENTIMENT IS GROWING AGAINST WAR SAYS PASTOR

Declaring that the worldwide sentiment against war is constantly growing and giving his reasons for his belief, Rev. Don Tullis of the Second Presbyterian church Sunday morning delivered a strong argument against armed conflict and declared that the end of the European strife would see the dawning of a new era for Christian religion.

He said that instead of the Christian religion failing to stand the test, that the recent wars were but incidents in the world's evolution, stepping stones to universal peace.

Among the causes of anti-war sentiment, Mr. Tullis declared were the growth of socialism, the realization of the futility of war, the absurdity and the horror of it.

Among the causes of war itself the speaker gave primal passions, human greed and the possession of engines of warfare.

SHARP LOOKOUT BEING KEPT FOR MISSING GIRL

Probation Officer Mrs. Mary Miller received a card Monday from Mrs. Joseph Varner of Wilkins Corners, stating that they had received no word from missing seventeen year old Laura Bishop, who so mysteriously disappeared from their home several weeks ago. The girl wrote a rambling letter on the day she bade them good-by and that has been the last heard of her. Officers in other cities have a description of the girl and are keeping a sharp lookout.

There is a possibility to that the girl may have become despondent over imaginary trouble and may have left the state. It is said though that she had but little means and would have been compelled to seek employment.

EASTERN OHIO MINE WORKERS TO STAND PAT

President of Ohio Organization Says
If Mines are Opened, Trouble
May Result.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Columbus, Sept. 14.—John Moore, president of the Ohio Mine Workers today said that all miners in the eastern Ohio district would "stand pat" with the union and would not return to work until an agreement had been reached. He asserted that if the eastern Ohio mines were opened, it would have to be done by using strike-breakers, which course, if followed, would probably cause trouble.

It is understood that the eastern Ohio operators have notified the Mine Workers' officials that efforts will probably be made to start the mines again with such old employees as can be had on a scale of 44.61 cents per ton for machine mined coal.

The Mine Workers' are evidently holding out for a rate of 47 cents a ton for machine mined coal, believing that the operators will be unable to open the mines unless they accede to this rate.

The operators offered 44.61 at the joint scale committee meeting last week between miners and operators at Wheeling, W. Va., but this was rejected by miners.

Deceased Was Editor of the First

Dr. W. W. Harrington, age 59, for years a well known dentist, died Sunday morning at 3 o'clock at his home, 115 Elmwood avenue. His death was due to locomotor ataxia with which he has been afflicted for nearly 20 years. While not entirely unexpected, the announcement of his death caused a profound shock among his many friends in the city.

Dr. Harrington was born in Newark, Jan. 31, 1855, and has always resided here. He was educated in the local schools until he reached young manhood when he became identified with the newspaper business. About 1875 he began the study of dentistry, his father, Sylvester P. Harrington, having been a dentist. He was admitted to the practice of his profession in the summer of 1879. For nearly a quarter of a century he practiced in Newark, giving up his work only after seized with the affliction which incapacitated him.

He is survived by his widow, formerly Carolyn C. Coffee, and two children, George A. Harrington of Cincinnati, and Mrs. P. H. Dole, of New York.

Private funeral services will be held at the home Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock under the auspices of Acme lodge No. 554, F. & A. M., of which order he was a member. Rev. D. D. Tullis will officiate. The burial, also private, will be at Cedar Hill cemetery.

SUNDAY SCHOOL RECEIVES FLAG
FROM A CLASS

A delightful and somewhat unique service was enacted at the First Presbyterian Sunday school yesterday morning in connection with the school's opening exercises. Acting on a suggestion made by the superintendent some months ago, the Cross and Crown Circle class, Miss Lottie McMillen teacher, presented to the Sunday school a beautiful silk flag. By invitation J. H. Leidich, a veteran of the civil war, made the presentation speech on behalf of the class, and it was appropriately responded to by the Superintendent, Mr. A. R. Evans on behalf of the school. The dedicatory prayer was made by the pastor. Preceding the presentation a member of the class gave the history of the writing of "The Star Spangled Banner," and a patriotic song was sung by the entire class. The exercises closed with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by a quartette. Mayor Higley, Col. Charles H. Kibler and a number of members of the Grand Army of the Republic were present. The presentation came in very appropriately at the time of the 100th anniversary of our national flag hymn.

Wearing a smartly styled hat is much the same as wearing a pleasant smile. Both add to your good looks.

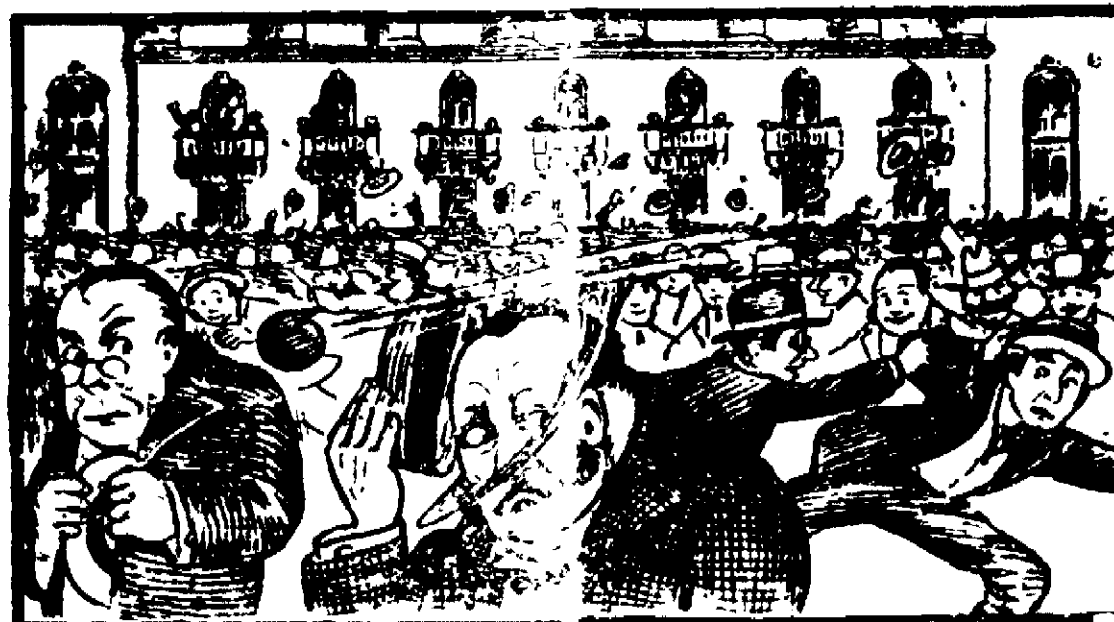

The clever derbies and soft hats shown this fall have been treated in a novel and winsome manner. Note the width of ribbon and position of bow—a little New York "touch" which will be welcomed here at home. But there are many styles in the new fall hats. If you don't care for one there are others and one you will care for.

SMASHING HATS ON NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE ON SEPT. 15th.

The celebration of Hat day in the New York Stock Exchange is one of the merriest days of the year. It rivals all the other days when the brokers cast off their cares and for the moment become boys again. Straw hats are smashed, thrown about the floors and tossed into the air to be battered to shapeless masses of straw under the feet of the brokers, who enjoy the scrimmage as much as they did their cane rushes or bowl or flag fights back in college days.

Dr. L. C. Sparks' Sermon Sunday Evening on the European War Was an Interesting Exposition

Dr. L. C. Sparks, pastor of the First M. E. church delivered a most interesting discourse Sunday evening, the large edifice being filled to capacity. It was more in the nature of a lecture than a sermon and was pronounced one of the most eloquent ever heard in the city. Dr. Sparks announced as his text, "Nevertheless the Foundation of God Standeth Sure." He said in part:

"The sole purpose of this evening's discourse is to strengthen the faith in this declaration.

"The assassination of the Archduke Ferdinand by a young Serb son of a thrill of horror throughout the world.

"The declaration of war shocked the world as the world has never been shocked before because in the last quarter of a century the world has been growing rapidly in the spirit of humanitarianism and many wise and thoughtful men thought that war would never come again. The world has been drawing very closely together in communication, in education, and in peace pacts. Men have been given fortunes to promote international peace and a great palace of peace was erected at The Hague, and yet it seems for the time being the idea of world peace has passed out of our thoughts. Everywhere there has been a movement to lessen the burdens of man. And yet when an assassin's bullet takes the life of the heir to a great throne the world rushes into anarchy.

"The Austrian government claimed that the crime was a political crime and not an individual crime and so drastic demands were made upon Serbia, and because Serbia can not meet this demand war is declared, and so Russia refused to permit Austria to destroy Serbia and so Germany, France, England, Belgium and all of the nations are involved in the war.

There has existed for years what is known as the concept of Europe, which was a compact that there would be no general European war although the individual nations might fight. This concept lasted until the time of Bismarck, probably the greatest constructive statesman the world has ever known. His consolidation of Germany around Prussia destroyed the concept of Europe and for the protection of Germany he formed the triple alliance of Germany, Austria and Italy, and later as a protection against this mighty alliance was formed the triple entente of Great Britain, France and Russia. Look at these nations. Look first at Germany. Modern Germany is a miracle with her scholarship and her science, situated in the middle of Europe, in a territory smaller than Texas, and yet with her 66,000,000 she is a prosperous country. Germany has room and must colonize. She lives on her manufactures and her trade must be through the English channel, and so is at the mercy of the greatest naval power of the world. She has never been able to colonize and so far as land is concerned is bankrupt. Her emperor is one of the great characters, religious and patriotic, he will stop at nothing when the good of his people is concerned. Then look at the great nation of Russia, wonderful, and yet unable to get to a harbor that is not ice bound. For centuries she has had her eyes on Constantinople. In part this is a war caused by land hunger. Then look at Austria-Hungary, the most heterogeneous nation in the world. Her ruler, an old man, has had more sorrows than any other man. The hatred between Austria and Italy is the cause of the breaking of the triple alliance. Little Serbia is banking for liberty and the better things. If ever there was a people to be pitied it is the Belgians, not a party to the strife and yet ruthlessly drawn into this struggle because her soil is overrun.

It is not surprising that France is arrayed against Germany. For ever since 1870 she has been waiting to win back the land taken from her by Germany.

I need not characterize England—she has isolations. What a mighty power she is, she has gone from one conquest to another until her empire consists of one-half of the world. She is not a military nation.

Somebody has said that it is a race war, a war between the civilization of western Europe and the Slavs, but this is not so, as Germany is a kin to England and much of Austria to Russia. All that is involved, men are thinking about, and the first thing that will come from it will be the explosion of the idea of "in time of peace, prepare for war." Wise men have thought that great armies and navies would prevent war.

If Germany had not been armed as she were, perhaps diplomacy would have prevailed. If Russia had not been able to muster an army of 11,000,000 men, she might not have been so aggressive. If England had not known that she was mistress of the sea, she might have tried further diplomacy.

So I believe we are coming to arrested armament. I think no one imagines that the youth who took the life of the Archduke was the cause although he was the occasion. The Serbian is filled with a love of self government that characterizes the human race. The biggest thing that is above the horizon is the Pan-Slavic movement towards self government. It means the overthrow of despotism in Russia.

Militarism is to be shot to pieces in this awful war. The whole war stands in horror of the outbreak of militarism.

But I think the greatest blessing is to come from the uncrowning of crowned heads. This is a moment that has tried Christianity as it has never been tried. Is Christianity a failure? This is a tremendous struggle between peoples who have professed Christianity from time universal. Are the foundations of God to stand sure? Christianity is not to be measured by one man or group of men. Is Christianity to be bankrupt because one man or group who has thrown the world into confusion?

God has made us so that we are free, and a man or a nation can do evil and God can't help, and have his child resemble him.

Men are saying if God can't prevent war what is the good of having a God. God will not fail. I don't know but out of it all God will make the wrath of man to praise Him. God is not dead. Was He dead at Waterloo? Was He dead at Gettysburg? So He is not dead in the present conflict.

What are we to do? Here we are with the blood of all the races running through our veins and when this war people from the devastated countries will come to our shores and we are to grow not by building dreadnaughts but by putting the emphasis upon character building and the whole world should come to see

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a glass of Salts before Breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid on stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a teaspoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in a mistake by having a good kidney every home, because nobody can make flushing any time.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Look years younger! Use Grandmother's recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur and nobody will know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant. Agents Hall's drug store.

IMPERIAL GUARD LOSES HEAVILY

(Associated Press Telegram) Paris, Sept. 14.—3:40 A. M.—A corps of 70 prisoners and 100 wounded, all from the Imperial guard of Germany, passed through Cordibel, 18 miles southeast of Paris Sunday. All were completely exhausted and nearly famished.

FRENCH EXPERT GIVES THE HONOR TO THE ENGLISH

(Associated Press Telegram) Bordeaux, via London, Sept. 14.—Gabriel Hanotaux, former minister of foreign affairs, in an article in the Figaro, pays a warm tribute to General Joffre, the French army and its English allies. He considers that the honors of the day belong to the latter and to General French. M. Hanotaux, praises the delicate manner in which General French recognizes General Joffre's strategic conceptions.

ANTI-ITALIAN DEMONSTRATIONS ALMOST DAILY

(Associated Press Telegram) Ancona, Sept. 14.—Via Paris.—Passengers aboard the steamer Galipoli, which arrived today from Dalmatia, say that anti-Italian demonstrations are of almost daily occurrence at Sebenico and Spalato because Italy did not join in the triple alliance. Many Italians, it was said, fled closely watched by the police.

YOUR KIND OF HEADACHE

The headache which in addition to the pain, gives the impression of tight band about the head, is caused by nervous exhaustion. It is a blessing in disguise because it gives warning that you are over-drawing your supply of nervous energy. Unless you stop the mental fatigue, and build up your nerves you will be fortunate if you escape nervous breakdown, some form of paralysis or other severe nervous disorder.

Rest is, of course, desirable but not always possible and liable to be deferred. With sufficient rest the nervous will build themselves up. Laid up in this, you need something that will build them up and sustain them while they are kept modestly at work. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are probably unequalled for this purpose. They build up the nerves in the only possible way, by circulating the blood with the clearest, purest of the nerves. (See report of a woman who told me that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have proved so helpful in many severe cases that every sufferer is justified in giving them a trial for any form of nervous debility. They contain no opiate or harmful drug.) A little book on Nervous Disorders will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

CAVALRY LOSSES ARE APPALLING

(Associated Press Telegram) London, Sept. 14.—1:15 A. M.—A despatch to the Express from Paris says: "The German losses in cavalry are appalling. A German cavalry officer who completed at the three-day horse show a few years ago and is now a prisoner, estimates that the losses in cavalry horses, especially in Belgium, amount to two-thirds of the total strength allotted to the army operating in the direction of Paris."

ELY'S CREAM BALM OPENS CLOGGED NOSTRILS AND HEAD--CATARRH GOES

Instantly Clears Air Passages; You Breathe Freely, Nasty Discharge Stops, Head Colds and All Head-ache Vanish.

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try. Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which blocks the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous droppings into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear. F. D. Hall, 10 North Side Square, Newark, Ohio.

Capt. Dinsmore in Town.
Capt. A. G. Dinsmore who for 14 years was quartermaster of the Wisconsin Veteran's Home, is here from Waupaca, Wis., visiting his sister

Mrs. Kate Wilson, of North Fourth street for a few days. Capt. Dinsmore who expects to attend a reunion of 60 D 22d Ohio at Granville next Saturday, has the distinction of having served during the civil war in four different regiments from three different states, Ohio, Missouri and Wisconsin. He was the first man in Licking county to enlist after the President's call for troops April 15, 1861. Two days later he left Alexandria, his home, and joined the 13th
Missouri and was afterwards transferred to the 22d Ohio. Still later he organized a company in Wisconsin and was made its captain. Capt.
Dinsmore says that only three of his old acquaintances in Alexandria are now there. At the time he went to the war in '61, Newark was about the size of Granville today. The Captain has a sprightly step and clear mind and would pass anywhere for a man of sixty. He was a welcome caller at the Advocate office Monday.

RETREAT, FEARING GERMANS WOULD BURN BRUSSELS

London, Sept. 14.—9:50 a. m.—An Antwerp dispatch to the Central News dated Sunday says that the German force against which the Belgians have been operating has been heavily reinforced, particularly with guns. It is believed the reinforcements came from Liege where a thousand German marines are reported to have arrived.
The Belgian retirement is said to be due to the fact that the Germans would burn Brussels.

HUNTING LICENSES HAVE BEEN ISSUED

Several hundred hunting licenses have been issued by the county clerk and various township clerks. All hunting licenses expire December 31 of the current year in which they are issued. The rush of permits is caused by the open season for squirrels, which begins tomorrow and lasts until Oct.
20 inclusive. The little animals are quite numerous this season but no hunter is allowed to bag more than five in any one day. The Advocate has a few copies of the fish and game laws of Ohio which it will dispose of to those who are interested. They can be secured by calling on the sporting editor in the editorial department on the second floor of the Advocate building.
